*Tuition is based on full-time enrollment of 15 credit hours per semester for two semesters; for the full academic year (not including summer session) for students classified as In-State Students during the 2017-2018 academic year. The College Opportunity Fund stipend is $77 per credit hour ($2,310 for 30 hours) during the 2017-2018 academic year at participating public institutions or $39 per credit hour ($1,170) at participating private schools.

There may be additional costs and fees for specific courses or programs.

^The tuition and fees listed for Community College System schools are approximate since fees vary somewhat among these schools. Participating private schools are not shown on the above chart. Compare detailed school costs on the CollegeInColorado.org College Planning tab.

WHAT IS IT?

The College Opportunity Fund (COF), created by the Colorado Legislature, provides a stipend to eligible undergraduate students. The stipend pays a portion of your total in-state tuition when you attend a Colorado participating public institution or at participating private school.

ELIGIBILITY

Eligible students include undergraduates classified as in-state students for tuition purposes and enrolled at state colleges and universities. Additionally, undergraduate students enrolled at participating private colleges or universities may be eligible if the college or university is approved for the program by the Colorado Commission on Higher Education and the student meets certain eligibility requirements. Students without documentation may be eligible for the COF; see requirements at CICColoradoASSET.org.
