Release Notes Summary

This release includes the following:

- New Individual Learning Plan Dashboard – Students can now see at a glance how many trackable Individual Learning Plan (also known as ICAP, PEP, SSP) activities they've completed.
- Improved Plan of Study Printing – The formatting of the printed version of the Plan of Study has been improved. Professionals can now batch print up to 100 Plans of Study at a time.

1. New Individual Learning Plan Dashboard

No more “What do I do next?” questions with the new Individual Learning Plan (also known as ICAP, IEP, SSP) dashboard! Students can see at a glance how many assigned trackable ILP activities they’ve completed as soon as they sign into their account – and from their Portfolio. Educators also see the new dashboard when looking at a student’s ILP.

It’s simple for students to select an unfinished activity to complete from their ILP page in their Portfolio.

Students can see at a glance the activities they need to complete

Students can personalize their dashboard with their own photo and background. It's simple and engaging.

Educators see the same dashboard – with the addition of the ability to add a comment to the student's dashboard.

2. Improved Plan of Study Printing

Printing students' Plans of Study has been improved so each print now uses less ink, clearly identifies the student, has more print options and has a better layout. Additionally educators can now batch print up to 100 Plans of Study at time – making the printing process much more time efficient. Educators, students, and parents will now see on their print, PDF and email versions:

- Much less white space
- No color (black and white printing only)
- The student's name at the top of the first page
- Student's name, grade, school, district and report date moved to the first page and auto-filled with data
- Less extraneous information

Students, educators and parents will see these options when printing, emailing or creating a PDF of a student's Plan of Study:
