2. MANUAL OVERRIDE ADDED FOR OFF-TRACK PLANS OF STUDY

Within the Professional Center, educators and counselors can now manually override a student's off-track Plan of Study. A student's Plan of Study is measured against their selected graduation requirements. If their plan does not meet graduation requirements, it is deemed to be off track. Professionals can override an off-track plan by subject area.

Manual overrides can be cleared and the system will automatically recalculate the student's on- or off-track status. Each override (and removal of the override) has an audit record where the professional's name and the date of the override are recorded. In addition, professionals may add comments to the audit record.

Upon manually overriding a Plan of Study subject, the Plan of Study is automatically locked. Unlocking a Plan of Study automatically removes all manual overrides.

On the Course Plan Tracking Report, plans that have been overridden have a different icon so that they're visually distinguished.
