RELEASE NOTES SUMMARY

These release notes detail the product improvements and new features included in the September 25th release.

Resolved Issues (formerly improvement report)

- The title of assigned curriculum or activities (formerly known as an Individual Learning Plan (ILP) or Individual Career and Academic Plan (ICAP) was truncated when a professional viewed a student's portfolio.
- When accessing the Do What You Are assessment using an iPad, some users were seeing an error message and could not complete the assessment.

Updates and New Features

- Updated AP Classes: Each year the drop-down list of Advanced Placement (AP) classes in the Test Scores activity within Your Portfolio is updated with the latest list of current AP classes. This year, the names of two classes were changed: 2-D Design was changed to 2-D Art and Design and 3-D Design was changed to 3-D Art and Design.
- Renamed Tool in the Professional Center: The Individual Learning Plan tool available in the Professional Center has been renamed to the "Assignment and Curriculum Builder".
- New Career and Education Planning Curriculum: MyCAP, a new career and education planning curriculum, is now available for district and school educators to turn on for their schools.
- New Social Media Links: Twitter and Facebook links have been added to the Professional Center.
- Updated Reports: Reports generated through the Professional Center now include the following additional student information: state-issued student identification number, local student number, date of birth, and username.
- Master Course List Design Improvement: The "Select All" and "Clear All" buttons on the Update Master Course List page in the Professional Center (available to both site and districts professional administrators) have been moved so they are easier to use and see on the page.
- Redesigned District Professional Center: The Professional Center hosting the district-level tools has been updated so that district professional account holders can easily switch between site (school) and district tools.
- Easier to Switch Schools in Profession Center: Educators with site-based Professional Center accounts attached to more than one site/school can now easily switch between sites.

1. RESOLVED ISSUES

This table summarizes the product improvements included in the September 25th release.

	Problem	Improvement
1	Professional Center: The title of assigned curriculum or activities (formerly known as an Individual Learning Plan (ILP) or Individual Career and Academic Plan (ICAP) was truncated when a professional viewed a student's portfolio. (78534)	The title of the assigned curriculum or activities now displays up to 30 characters instead of 20. The full title is displayed when a professional hovers their mouse over the title.
2	Choices360 Student Center: When accessing the Do What You Are assessment using an iPad, some users were seeing an error message and could not complete the assessment. (74626)	The code was fixed so that the error no longer appears. Students completing Do What You Are no longer see the error message and can complete it.

2. UPDATED ADVANCED PLACEMENT (AP) CLASSES

Each year the drop-down list of Advanced Placement (AP) classes in the Test Scores activity within Your Portfolio is updated with the latest list of current AP classes. This year, the names of two classes were changed: 2-D Design was changed to 2-D Art and Design and 3-D Design was changed to 3-D Art and Design.
